March 2016 – Forward

Title: Art Exhibit “Child Soldiers - Forced to be Cruel”
Date: January 8 through March 2016
Time: Open daily during regular business hours
Location: MSU College of Law, 4th Floor Atrium
648 North Shaw Lane, East Lansing, MI 48824
Description: The Lori E. Talky Center for Human Rights of Women and Children presents this exhibit in an effort to personalize and make more accessible the plight of child soldiers around the world. The exhibit freeze-frames traumatized children in crisis. It shows them in the clutches of cruel mental pain and suffering, sometimes masked by bravado or insolence.

Title: Project 60/50 Quilted Conversations: Materializing Civil and Human Rights
Date: January 18 to March 25, April 22, and October 1 2016
Location: On Your Own Quilt Making
Description: Quilts carry culture. Traditionally made by many hands, from scraps whereby each hold a story, the quilt is an art form that reflects history – both personal and communal. The series will kick off at the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration on January 18, 2016 in the MSU Union. The series includes a community quilt making project where participants can contribute a quilt block to a large scale quilt that will be assembled and showcased at a pop-up exhibit. Participate in this community quilt-making project by visiting www.project6050communityquilt.squarespace.com for details on how to participate. The spring quilt deadline is March 25, 2016 and the children’s quilt deadline is April 22, 2016. The fall quilt deadline is October 1, 2016.
Participation: Anyone and everyone! Participants can work individually or together as families, clubs, guilds, or classrooms.

Title: “Student Voices: MSU Student Protest” Exhibition
Date: January 18 to May 1, 2016
Time: 9:00 a.m. (Saturday 10:00 a.m., Sunday 1:00 p.m.) to 5:00 p.m.
Location: MSU Museum, First Floor
409 West Circle Drive, East Lansing, MI 48824
Description: Students at Michigan State University have long used protests to speak out on a range of issues and make their voices heard. “Student Voices” draws from the MSU Museum’s student protest-related materials in the MSU Museum collections. The inclusion of recent protests provides a touchstone, linking the lives of today’s students to those who have given their voices to social and political issues in the past.
Opening reception on January 18, 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. and student performance in conjunction with Martin Luther King, Jr. Day at MSU: The theme this year is, “If not now, then when? If not us, then who?”

Title: JSRI Symposium: “Challenging the Culture of Cruelty: Understanding and Defeating Race and Class Inequity in America” by Tim Wise

Date: March 18, 2016
Time: 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Location: North Kedzie, Room N101
354 Farm Lane, East Lansing, MI 48824

Description: Wise is the author of six books, including his celebrated memoir, White Like Me: Reflections on Race from a Privileged Son, as well as Dear White America: Letter to a New Minority, and Colorblind: The Rise of Post-Racial Politics and the Retreat from Racial Equity. In his latest book, Under the Affluence: Shaming the Poor, Praising the Rich and Sacrificing the Future of America, released in 2015, he explores the way that racism has been central to the development and perpetuation of the nation’s class system. Further, he demonstrates the importance of undermining the dominant White racial narrative not solely to fight racism itself, but also economic and social injustice in society. This symposium is free and open to the public.

“What’s the Big Idea: Re-thinking the Detroit Institute of Arts’ Permanent Collection” Lecture with Graham W.J. Beal

Date: March 22, 2016
Time: 7:00 p.m.
Location: Psychology Building, Room 118
316 Physics Road, East Lansing, MI 48824
Description: Between 2002 and 2007, during extensive renovations to the whole facility, DIA curators and educators completely rethought how the permanent collection could be presented to the non-specialist visitor. Abandoning the traditional art historical armature that dominated western museums for a century, Beal and his colleagues sought a framework that, following the DIA’s new mission statement, would “provide spaces for the visitor to find personal meaning in art.” Lecture by Visiting Hannah Distinguished Professor Graham W.J. Beal.

Leadership in Dealing with Difficult Multicultural Discussions Workshop

Event Date: March 24, 2016 (registration open through March 4th)
Time: 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Location: Ziibiwing Cultural Center
6650 E. Broadway Street, Mt. Pleasant, MI 48858
Description: Have you ever found yourself in a difficult multicultural discussion with staff, co-workers, community members, family members or others? Perhaps you’ve been in a conversation where you wished that you could’ve responded in a different way to an inappropriate behavior, remark or joke? Many attendees of past the Multicultural Self-Awareness workshop have indicated that they would benefit from... opportunities to practice ways to use their voice to take leadership in dealing with difficult multicultural discussions.

The purpose of this workshop is to provide frameworks and practical experiences for participants to explore how difficult discussions can become opportunities for transformative dialogue. Participants will learn approaches to positive confrontation and the connections between personal healing, organizational and community change, social justice, and authentic relationships across differences. This workshop is open to all MSU Extension staff and community members.

Registration: Registration is required. Registration open through March 4, unless event capacity is reached sooner. Continental breakfast, lunch, and workshop materials are included. Register at: http://events.anr.msu.edu/LDDMD2016/

$25 for MSU Extension employees, $75 for non-MSU Extension employees and community members.
